Bible Study on Acts 17:27-28 with Jessica Lóren Jenkins

Jessica Lóren Jenkins is a 27-year-old native of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, currently residing in the Nashville, Tennessee area. With an undergraduate degree in Health Services Administration, she has had several years of experience in the healthcare field. However, a change of direction came once she got the opportunity to pursue a seminary degree. She is currently enrolled as a full-time student at Central Baptist Theological Seminary and has just graduated this May 2018 with her Masters of Divinity degree. Jessica believed that she might be leaving healthcare behind but quickly discovered that would not be the case. After school, she is seeking to take part in CPE (clinical pastoral education) training to become a hospice chaplain. Jessica adores time spent with her family, writing, and laughing a lot. Being outdoors is something that she greatly enjoys, as well as traveling. In the last two years, she has been to both Thailand and Israel and is pondering where her adventures will take her in 2019.
